

Risk

1. All of us take certain risks in life, a time and situation where we could lose or gain something that is important to us. These risks may involve relationships with people, money, recreation and education or a career path. Give an example of risk in one of these areas.
2. What risks have you taken? How did you decide to take the risk? What was the outcome?
3. Fear often keeps us from taking risks. Eleanor Roosevelt said, "Do one thing every day that scares you." What do you think Roosevelt meant? Give an example of a fear that keeps us from taking risks. Do you know a story of someone who took great risks? What was the outcome?
4. The painting shows Saint Paul in prison. He was in prison as a result of telling others about Jesus. What causes people to take risks that put their own life in peril? Can you think of current examples of people like this? Draw a chart with a risk you are considering, and the possible losses or gains.

Rembrandt Harmensz. van Rijn. St. Paul in Prison, c. 1627. Oil on panel, 72.8 x 60.2 cm. Staatsgalerie, Stuttgart

Risk

1. All of us take certain risks in life, a time and situation where we could lose or gain something that is important to us. These risks may involve relationships with people, money, recreation and education or a career path. Give an example of risk in one of these areas.
2. What risks have you taken? How did you decide to take the risk? What was the outcome?
3. Fear often keeps us from taking risks. Eleanor Roosevelt said, "Do one thing every day that scares you." What do you think Roosevelt meant? Give an example of a fear that keeps us from taking risks. Do you know a story of someone who took great risks? What was the outcome?
4. The painting shows Saint Paul in prison. He was in prison as a result of telling others about Jesus. What causes people to take risks that put their own life in peril? Can you think of current examples of people like this? Draw a chart with a risk you are considering, and the possible losses or gains.

Rembrandt Harmensz. van Rijn. St. Paul in Prison, c. 1627. Oil on panel, 72.8 x 60.2 cm. Staatsgalerie, Stuttgart

Rembrandt Harmensz. van Rijn. St. Paul in Prison, c. 1627. Oil on panel, 72.8 x 60.2 cm. Staatsgalerie, Stuttgart

Rembrandt Harmensz. van Rijn. St. Paul in Prison, c. 1627. Oil on panel, 72.8 x 60.2 cm. Staatsgalerie, Stuttgart

Risk

1. All of us take certain risks in life, a time and situation where we could lose or gain something that is important to us. These risks may involve relationships with people, money, recreation and education or a career path.
Give an example of risk in one of these areas.
2. What risks have you taken? How did you decide to take the risk?
What was the outcome?
3. Fear often keeps us from taking risks. Eleanor Roosevelt said, "Do one thing every day that scares you." What do you think Roosevelt meant?
Give an example of a fear that keeps us from taking risks.
Do you know a story of someone who took great risks? What was the outcome?
4. The painting shows Saint Paul in prison. He was in prison as a result of telling others about Jesus.
What causes people to take risks that put their own life in peril?
Can you think of current examples of people like this?
Draw a chart with a risk you are considering, and the possible losses or

Risk

1. All of us take certain risks in life, a time and situation where we could lose or gain something that is important to us. These risks may involve relationships with people, money, recreation and education or a career path.
Give an example of risk in one of these areas.
2. What risks have you taken? How did you decide to take the risk?
What was the outcome?
3. Fear often keeps us from taking risks. Eleanor Roosevelt said, "Do one thing every day that scares you." What do you think Roosevelt meant?
Give an example of a fear that keeps us from taking risks.
Do you know a story of someone who took great risks? What was the outcome?
4. The painting shows Saint Paul in prison. He was in prison as a result of telling others about Jesus.
What causes people to take risks that put their own life in peril?
Can you think of current examples of people like this?
Draw a chart with a risk you are considering, and the possible losses or gains.