

Scream!

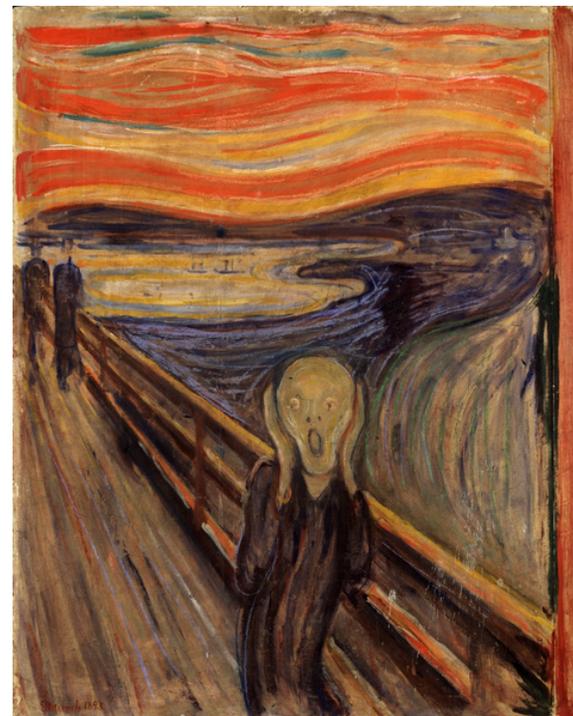

1. Why do you think people sometimes feel like screaming? Tell a story about when you screamed.
2. The effect of hearing a scream triggers a fear response in our brains, and the higher pitch the scream, the greater amount of fear, according to the article written in Current Biology, 2015.
Tell about a time when you reacted to someone else's screaming.
3. Sometimes we use the word, "scream" in a metaphorical way. "All the things one has forgotten scream for help in dreams." —Elias Canetti.
What do you think this quote means?
Is there anything else that screams at you, though not literally?
4. Munch describes what inspired his painting. "My friends went on—I stood there trembling with anxiety—and I felt a vast infinite scream [tear] through nature."
Now it's your turn.
Draw faces of people screaming and perhaps what prompted the scream.

Edvard Munch. The Scream, c. 1910.
Tempura on board, 66 x 83 cm. The
Munch Museum, Oslo, Norway

Scream!

1. Why do you think people sometimes feel like screaming? Tell a story about when you screamed.
2. The effect of hearing a scream triggers a fear response in our brains, and the higher pitch the scream, the greater amount of fear, according to the article written in Current Biology, 2015.
Tell about a time when you reacted to someone else's screaming.
3. Sometimes we use the word, "scream" in a metaphorical way. "All the things one has forgotten scream for help in dreams." —Elias Canetti.
What do you think this quote means?
Is there anything else that screams at you, though not literally?
4. Munch describes what inspired his painting. "My friends went on—I stood there trembling with anxiety—and I felt a vast infinite scream [tear] through nature."
Now it's your turn.
Draw faces of people screaming and perhaps what prompted the scream.

Edvard Munch. The Scream, c. 1910.
Tempura on board, 66 x 83 cm. The
Munch Museum, Oslo, Norway

Edvard Munch. The Scream, c. 1910.
Tempura on board, 66 x 83 cm. The
Munch Museum, Oslo, Norway

Edvard Munch. The Scream, c. 1910.
Tempura on board, 66 x 83 cm. The
Munch Museum, Oslo, Norway

Scream!

1. Why do you think people sometimes feel like screaming? Tell a story about when you screamed.
2. The effect of hearing a scream triggers a fear response in our brains, and the higher pitch the scream, the greater amount of fear, according to the article written in Current Biology, 2015.
Tell about a time when you reacted to someone else's screaming.
3. Sometimes we use the word, "scream" in a metaphorical way. "All the things one has forgotten scream for help in dreams." —Elias Canetti.
What do you think this quote means?
Is there anything else that screams at you, though not literally?
4. Munch describes what inspired his painting. "My friends went on—I stood there trembling with anxiety—and I felt a vast infinite scream [tear] through nature."
Now it's your turn.
Draw faces of people screaming and perhaps what prompted the scream.

Scream!

1. Why do you think people sometimes feel like screaming? Tell a story about when you screamed.
2. The effect of hearing a scream triggers a fear response in our brains, and the higher pitch the scream, the greater amount of fear, according to the article written in Current Biology, 2015.
Tell about a time when you reacted to someone else's screaming.
3. Sometimes we use the word, "scream" in a metaphorical way. "All the things one has forgotten scream for help in dreams." —Elias Canetti.
What do you think this quote means?
Is there anything else that screams at you, though not literally?
4. Munch describes what inspired his painting. "My friends went on—I stood there trembling with anxiety—and I felt a vast infinite scream [tear] through nature."
Now it's your turn.
Draw faces of people screaming and perhaps what prompted the scream.